What a mosquito uses when he bites is made up of his attender, his clypeus, hypopharynx, his labium, epipharynx, his labium, his mandibles, and his maxillor. We always thought it was something like that, but didn't exactly know the name of it.

A St. Louis man describes the honey-moon as "that state of ecstatic idiosyncrasy that will cause a supreme court judge to shun up a shellbark hickory in his bathing suit to harvest a hornet's nest for his innocent tootsie wootsie." His preference of a hornet's nest as a refuge from the innocent little tootsie wootsie comes later.

Mrs. M. V. Hungerford on Thursday last received the sad intelligence of the death of her grandson, Ralph Hannawald, of Berkeley, near Denver, Col., on the 12th inst. Deceased was but 21 years of age, a promising young man, whose untimely death will cast a gloom over a once happy home and bring sorrow to the hearts of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

By a private letter from Mr. Victor F. Lawson, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, we are informed that, as the season is so far advanced and the beginning of school term so near at hand, it is deemed inexpedient by the managers of the Daily News Fresh Air Fund to send out any more parties of "Country Week" guests this season. The fund will be opened again next season at the close of the summer term of school.

The following state ticket was put in nomination by the Democratic convention held at Grand Rapids last week: For governor, Allen B. Morse, of Ionia county; for lieutenant governor, James P. Edwards, of Houghton; for secretary of state, Charles F. Marskey, of Saginaw; for auditor-general, Jas. A. Vannier, of Marquette; for treasurer, Frederick Marvin, of Wayne; for attorney-general, A. A. Ellis, of Ionia; for commissioner state land office, Geo. T. Shaffer, of Cass; for superintendent of public instruction, Ferris S. Fitch, of Oakland; for member state board of education, Jas. K. Barr, of Genesee; for elector-at-large, eastern district, Geo. H. Durand, of Genesee; for elector-at-large, western district, Peter White, of Marquette.

George Cuddeback, who has been employed by the friends of the local option law as a private detective was last Saturday arrested on a warrant issued by Justice Odell, charged with violating the local option law in giving and furnishing liquors to others. He was arraigned Monday morning and gave bail in $300 for his appearance at the circuit court. Cuddeback is the man who made the complaint against George Labadie, mentioned last week. LATER—Cuddeback's bondsman surrendered him to the sheriff yesterday, and as we go to press he is in custody, with no likelihood of getting bail. Well, there's where he tried to put Labadie, and he ought not to murmur against taking his own medicine.

Mr. Rowland and others who are managing the affirmative side of the local option question claim in their speeches that the figures presented in this journal last week had been "juggled with" and made to appear what they were not. The figures, as we said in the article referred to, were taken from Mr. R.'s own compilation, verified by the treasurer's books and submitted to the people for consideration. One fact we were not cognizant of at the time of writing the article, (but which Mr. Rowland well knew and was discreet enough not to say a word about,) is, that last year $5,000 more in tax was spread upon the property of the county than ever before in its history, and that that $5,000 has gone with the rest, and that, instead of there being money in the treasury now, there is not a dollar but borrowed money; and the four thousand and odd dollars he claimed to be on hand when his compilation was made, over one-half of it belonged to the primary school fund, library fund, institute fund and drain fund. Will the gentlemen deny this, or will they explain it away to the satisfaction of those persons who have no capacity for reasoning, and never listen to but one side of any question, (their side,) as they have attempted to do with all the other stubborn facts which we have produced to prove that, as a temperance measure, local option is of altogether too small calibre to cope with the giant antagonist against which it is pitted?

The Caucus.

The largest caucus ever held in Paw Paw township was that held by the Republicans at the court house last Saturday—254 votes being cast on the first ballot.

The caucus was called to order promptly at 2:30 p. m. by Judge Heckert, chairman of the township committee, and on motion he was made chairman of the caucus.

J. E. Chandler, J. I. Breck and O. W. Rowland were appointed tellers.

It was decided by the caucus to first select the delegates to the Representative convention, and the names of C. P. Rawson and Geo. W. Myers were put in nomination by the friends respectively of Hon. C. L. Eaton and E. A. Wildey, the ballot resulting in the election of Mr. Myers by 128 votes to 126 for Mr. Rawson. For the second delegate, O. W. Rowland and W. M. Thayer measured the strength of their respective friends, and Mr. Thayer was elected by 130 to 119 for Mr. Rowland. The third contest was between Messrs. I. A. Whitman and J. E. Showerman—the latter receiving 131 votes to 107 for the former.

It being now evident that Mr. Wildey's friends outnumbered those of Mr. Eaton in the caucus, that gentleman made a motion that Mr. Wildey nominate the balance of the delegation and the caucus ratify the nominations, which motion prevailed, and Mr. Wildey announced as the remaining ten delegates Messrs. Julian Sheldon, Eugene Hinekey, W. H. Nowers, Arthur Burt, J. Woodman, C. Engle, L. E. Shepard, I. B. Conner, G. E. Gilman and Eli Wise.

Then followed the selection of thirteen delegates to the county nominating convention, to be held at Lawton Sept. 7. These (with the exception of E. C. Tuckey, who was elected by ballot) were elected by acclamation, the names being read off by Geo. E. Breck, and were as follows: H. W. Showerman, Henry Hinekey, J. C. Warner, G. E. Breck, F. W. Rhodes, E. C. Tuckey, Fred Bilsborrow, A. R. Wildey, B. F. Warner, Wesley Hall, Geo. M. Lyle, Will Frater and Joel Sage.

It was announced in the caucus that the friends of Mr. Wildey were circulating a report that Mr. Eaton had worked against the nomination of Mr. Woodman at the Allegan convention, and were using this against Mr. Eaton's candidacy. Several of Mr. Wildey's closest friends were instantly on their feet and denounced the report in vigorous terms, as they knew of their own personal knowledge that Mr. Eaton was untiring in his efforts to secure Mr. Woodman's nomination, and at the adjournment of the caucus Mr. Wildey came into this office and penned the following.

ED. NORTHERNER:

Understanding that reports are being circulated to the effect that Hon. C. L. Eaton worked against the Hon. J. J. Woodman at the congressional convention held at Allegan Aug. 16th, allow me to say that I was present at that convention and know that Mr. Eaton labored earnestly to secure Mr. Woodman's nomination. E. A. WILDEY.
